A BOSTON BLOW.

THE "HUB" IN A HUBBUB---GRAPHIC DETAILS.

People Blown in the Air---Houses Blown to Splinters---Great Destruction of Property and Life.

BOSTON, July 17.—During a storm yesterday at Nantaskot the House of W. H. Lee on Central House Hill was blown to splinters. A new grocery store was blown over and driven through the side of Lincoln's cafe. A skating rink and connections blown to shreds, and a barn in which there were two ladies and three gentlemen was lifted and carried eight feet, and two of the men were badly bruised. Many boats and yachts were lost and the occupants were rescued with difficulty. A yacht capsized off the beach and four persons were drowned. The bodies of three unknown men were washed ashore at Hull. Two yachts were capsized near Governor's Island and one man, two women and two children, were drowned. The captains on the Boston and Nantasket line say they never experienced such a gale before. Many hundreds of panes of glass were smashed by a large hail which fell. The loss at Nantasket was estimated from 8,5000 to $40,000. The spire on Adams' academy at Quincy was blown off and other damages done. The large wind mill used for the Boston & Providence railroad Company, for pumping water at the Eugene house, at Dedham, were completely demolished. A house near Oakdale station was struck by lightning and badly damaged. Reports from Davenport, North Beverly, Marble Head, Saugus, Nahant and Salem, Lynn and other points immediately surrounding Boston, give accounts of more or less damage, but report no loss of life. One of the most melancholy incidents of the storm is the sad fate of the Dundon family of Charlestown. The party consisting of Thomas Dundon, engineer on board of light ship at Woods Hale, his wife and two sisters, Mary Ann and Susan Dundon, his niece Lizzie Dundon and master Arthur Ream, left Charlestown about 1:30 o'clock in the yacht Myrtle, passed the early portion of the day below, but seeing the approaching storm, Dundon made sail for the city and was met by a squall at Bird's Island flats off East Boston Point. Finding it impossible to reach the city, Dundon placed his wife, her two sisters and niece in the yacht's tender. Before the boy and himself could get on board, the tender was blown away from the yacht and swamped, the yacht meeting the same fate, Dundon was forward when the yacht went down and clung to the mast as long as it was out of the water, then drifted toward the shore, and was picked up in an exhausted condition by the tug Vien which had a brig in tow. All ladies recovered except Susan Dundon and Arthur Ream. At Newton there was great damage.

ADDITIONAL PARTICULARS.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., July 17.—The tornado yesterday did great damage to buildings, fences, trees and shrubbery. Following the tornado came a severe thunder shower with pouring rain. The shower extended all over the country, and was accompanied particularly in Lanesboro, with hail stones of enormous size, some measuring seven inches in circumference. Crops are greatly damaged.

THE LATEST.

Some additional particulars are received of the destructive storm which swept over Massachusetts yesterday. At Northampton most of the elm trees, for which the city is famous, were prostrated. Many houses were unroofed and several tobacco barns demolished. One of the latter buried a man in its ruins. The loss of life is greater than was at first supposed. Captain Terrill, of the schooner H. W. Foster, was washed overboard at Hull and drowned. A sloop was seen to overturn off Baker's Island, near Salem, and all on board are known to have been lost. Search will be made to-day for the bodies. An unknown boy was washed off a yacht in the harbor and drowned, and the rest of the crew picked up by a steamer. John Berry, of South Boston, was drowned and his body has not yet been recovered. At Dover, Mass., an unknown man was killed and the town hall demolished. The steamer Norman, of the Boston and Philadelphia line, was forced ashore at South Boston but got off and proceeded. Brookline suffered heavy losses; the steeple of the Baptist church was blown to the ground and the town hall badly damaged. Hyde Park and other suburban towns report heavy losses and general damage to property of all descriptions. Two bodies were washed ashore at Hull and identified as Charles Bacon, of Boston, and a Mr. Churchill.

The War Portfolio.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—It is now stated positively that Mr. McCrary will be succeeded as Secretary of War by ex-Senator Ramsey, of Minnesota. The statement is neither confirmed nor denied at the Executive Mansion. Mr. Ramsey is a man 65 years of age, and a native of Pennsylvania. In 1849, while holding public office in that State, he was appointed Governor of the then Territory of Minnesota. He entered the United States Senate in 1863, and served for two terms. He was defeated for a third term by a compromise candidate, for the reason that he was considered as a Radical in his politics and as favoring a third term for General Grant. He went out of the Senate with the wave that carried out Zach Chandler, Logan and Carpenter. He has been a standing candidate for a foreign mission ever since the Hayes administration came into power.

Ferry's Folly.

LONDON, July 17.—A Paris dispatch to the Times says the rejection by the Senate of the anti-Jesuit clause of Jules Ferry's education bill, which is possible, would lead to the resignation of Ferry as Minister of Public Instruction, and lead to other modifications of the Cabinet.

Five New Cases.

MEMPHIS, July 17.—Five new cases of yellow fever were reported to the Board of Health this morning. The cases consist of the members of two families named Hester, residing under one roof at numbers 84 and 86 Clay street, in the southern portion of the city.

John K. Gilliat & Co.'s Circular as to Tobacco.

LONDON, July 2.—Sir: Although the business of the past month was less than in May, we have experienced a good trade demand, and various parcels of western strips of medium to fair quality found sale at the full average prices of the season.

Recent sales have so lightened the hands of several importers that there can no longer be said to be any pressure of stock on the market, but at the same time it is obvious that the manufacturers who take their supply from the London market now hold large stocks, and no further important business can be expected this season in the ordinary course of trade.

What may be possible in way of speculation, should inducement arise later on, we cannot say, but as yet there are no signs of any movement in this direction, and it seems it will require something more decided than the advices at present to hand of reduced crop estimates, and the purchase of a few hundred hogsheads strips by American manufacturers, to weigh in the scale against our still heavy stock of tobacco in warehouse.

Missouri leaf is no doubt held with more confidence, and buyers find less stock on sale, but although the bargains of the earlier months of the year have disappeared, we have heard of no sales which will justify us in raising quotations above what we have been asking, but not obtaining all through the season.

So little colory western tobacco is to be found here that prices may be called nominal, but we see little chance of our buyers being able to follow the American markets for such descriptions.

For dark Virginia tobacco, leaf or strips, we have had no inquiry. Brights are very scarce, and the high price asked for the little here seems to stop business.

The Board of Trade returns show unfavorably, but as the clearances in May of last year were exceptionally heavy, owing to the disturbance of trade by the alteration of duty, the present figures may be misleading. In the next return the figures will admit of fairer comparison.

JOHN K. KILLIAT & Co.

A Bahamia Bank Dump.

BOSTON, July 17.—The brig O. L. Carrigan, from Havana, reports that on June 29th she struck on Little Bahamia bank, her compass being out of order. She remained "stuck" fast for four days. She threw overboard from ninety-six to one hundred hogsheads of sugar to lighten up the vessel. She lost her false keel and forty-five fathoms of chain. She is leaking four hundred strokes per hour.

The Business Outlook.

Baltimore Sun.

We have received the semi-annual circular issued by the mercantile agency of Dun, Barlow & Co., giving the number of failures in the United States and Canada for the past quarter and the past half year. The figures are extremely encouraging. The total failures in the United States for the first six months of 1879 aggregate 4,058, the amount of liabilities being $65,779,390. These figures, compared with the first six months of 1878, show 1,767 fewer failures and a decrease of $65,053,376 in the amount of liabilities. The failures for the three months ending June 30, 1879, were only 1,534, liabilities $22,666,725, being much less than any single quarter of the past five years. The average of liabilities is also much smaller than heretofore. It is a very wholesome sign when the loss or locking up of money by bad debts is curtailed thus rapidly. The circular, after contrasting 1878 with 1879, remarks that "never before in our experience in the compilation of these statistics has the decrease in mercantile casualties been so marked; in no previous period has the comparison of losses by bad debts been so favorable as at the present hour." The decrease in the amount of liabilities, or, in other words, in the amount of money locked up by bankruptcies, is virtually a gain of $65,000,000 to the working business capital of the country in the past six months, but the best effect of the figures exhibited will be found in the return of confidence which they contribute to promote. As the circular says: "Numerous failures retard business ventures in a greater ratio than any other single circumstance, while the probability of lessened disasters begets faith in the future, and this feeling of safety contributes almost as much as an incentive to transactions as the hope of gain." The circular also comments upon the increase in the volume of business as indicated by the increase in the exchanges of the banks. This increase is equal to 20 per cent. in the last six months, and shows that the general consciousness of improvement in business is not conjectural, but has a substantial basis in facts. This increase in business, it is claimed, has had a great deal to do with the decrease in failures, and in fact shows conclusively that business must now be done at a good profit. A year or two ago the number of failures increased in proportion as the volume of business, showing that there were then no profits. This change in the condition of affairs is more full of encouragement, perhaps, than any other single circumstance in the whole connection. With regard to the special improvements noted in Baltimore the circular says:

"The spring trade of 1879 showed a slight improvement over that of recent years. Merchants generally are in a more cheerful and hopeful mood as to the future. Confidence is resuming full sway. The report as to all varieties of crops are decidedly favorable and encouraging, and the feeling is strong that the dawn of more prosperous times has come, and that this fall's business will show a large increase in volume and profit."

Husband and Wife as Partners.

New York Herald.

In the General Term of the Court of Common Pleas a decision has just been given holding that there can be a valid partnership between husband and wife. The decision was on an appeal taken from a judgment obtained by John Fitzsimmons and wife as partners, comprising the firm of John Fitzsimmons & Co., obtained against Prosper Erhard & Co. for goods sold and delivered. The defendants appealed upon the ground that there could be no legal partnership between the plaintiffs, and that in using the words "& Co." there was a violation of the statute forbidding the use of these words unless representing an actual partner or partners.

THE HULL MURDER.

THE CASE FOR THE PROSECUTION CLOSED.

The Testimony to have been Finished Yesterday--A Theory Advanced by Medical Experts.

NEW YORK, July 17.—In the Cox trial, the case for prosecution was closed last night and the defense will probably finish to-day with the testimony of medical experts to show that Mrs. Hull died during the post mortem examination and not by the hands of the prisoner. Dr. Vanderweyde in reply to the hypothetical question, said that a woman found as Mrs. Hull was found might not be dead even though cold and rigid, and that if dead it would be impossible to determine the direct cause of her death.

The Postal Law Passed by the Last Congress.

Many changes have been made in the laws governing the "rating" of domestic mail matter; admitting matter heretofore chargeable at letter rates at reduced rates, as enumerated below.

Mailable matter is divided into four classes.

First class matter includes that which is in writing, or other matter containing a written inscription in the nature of personal correspondence, and matters which are sealed against inspection, and alone by their nature and the intent of the law are first-class matter and subject to the postage rate of three cents for each half ounce or fraction thereof.

Second class matter embraces matter sent by publishers and news dealers, hence is of but little interest to our readers.

Third class matter embraces books, printed and blank, transient newspapers and periodicals, circulars and other matter wholly in print, proof sheets and corrected proof sheets and manuscript copy accompanying the same, prices current, with prices filled out in writing (provided such writing is not in the nature of personal correspondence), such as papers of legal proceedings, deeds of all kinds, way bills of lading, invoices, insurance policies, and the various documents of insurance companies, hand bills, posters, chromo lithographs, engravings, envelopes with printing thereon, heliotypes, lithographic and stereoscopic views, with title written there on, printed blanks, postage one cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof. There may be placed upon the cover or blank leaves of any book or of any printed matter of the third class a simple manuscript dedication or inscription that does not partake of the nature of a personal correspondence.

All packages of third class matter must be so wrapped with open sides or ends that their contents may be readily examined by postmasters.

The limit of weight of packages is four pounds, except in cases of single volumes of books in excess of said weight.

Mailable matter of the fourth class embraces blank card, card board and other flexible material, flexible patterns, letter envelopes and letter paper without printing thereon, merchandise, models, ornamented paper, sample cards, ores, metals, minerals, seeds, cutting, bulbs, roots, scions, drawings, plans, designs, original paintings in oil or water colors, and any other matter not included in the first, second or third class s, and which is not in its form or nature liable to destroy, deface, or otherwise damage the contents of the mail bag, or harm the person of any one engaged in the postal service. Postage rate thereon, one cent for each ounce or fractional part thereof.

Other articles of the fourth class which, unless properly secured, might destroy, deface or otherwise damage the contents of the mail bag, must be very securely wrapped and protected.

The following come under the head of unmailable:

Liquids, poisons, explosive and inflammable articles, putty substances easily liquefiable, live or dead animals (not stuffed), insects and reptiles, fruits or vegetable matter, confectionery pastes or confections and substances exhaling a bad odor; and every letter upon the envelope of which, or postal card upon which, indecent or obscene delineations, epithets, terms of language may be written or printed, are not mailable.

Mailable matter of the first, third and fourth class can be registered.

An "Irrigated Mountain."

Statesville Landmark.

We visited this cut, of late rendered so notorious by the newspapers, the other day; and we were very agreeably surprised not to find it such a stupendous obstacle as has been represented. In comparison with several obstacles in constructing this great road from Henry's to Swannanoa, and which have all been surmounted, it is a small job. The cut is made through the side of an irrigated mountain. The dampness of the soil occasions frequent land-slides, while the pressure from the mountain on the right sometimes forces the track out of position. These two difficulties can be easily overcome. In the first instance, with a force of two hundred hands, in a few weeks, and maybe days, the width of the cut can be so increased as to prevent the slides from reaching the track. And if the road-bed in the cut is heavily piled it will retard to a great extent the pressure from the mountain, making a firm foundation. So Mud Cut isn't such a bad thing after all.

NEW SILVER MINES.

Arkansas Trying to Rival Colorado---Silver in the Ozark Mountains.

Silver City (Ark.) Correspondence Cincinnati Enquirer.

The new silver discoveries which were first "struck" here over a year ago by Diamond Joe Reynolds, of Chicago, have, by their accessibility, suddenly become almost as attractive as the famous Leadville region, and yet comparatively nothing has been said about them. The way to get here, and what is to be seen and done after you get here, are the subjects which will interest those who are down with the silver fever.

Silver City is situated in the midst of the ore regions, and has a population of perhaps one hundred and fifty persons, Kinnon & Brady keep the only hotel in the place, which is run on the European plan. Beds cost 25 cents per night, four beds to a room, and you always sleep double. The rooms and beds are neat and clean. Meals 25 cents. Like all mining towns, a small quantity of liquor is sold, and a little gambling is done. The natives who own the land raise a little corn, and sometimes cotton, but "nary" thing else. They live on salt meat and corn bread as luxuries, their regular diet being tobacco and bad whisky.

The Wandering Boy Lode is one of the prospectively rich mines, the ore having been found at a few feet below the surface, growing richer as it deepened. I did not notice any ore lying around in heaps, as I have seen in Colorado; but the mysteriously knowing fellows told me it was there.

The Minnesota shaft, owned by Diamond Joe Reynolds, is not in operation, being nearly full of water, and a notice on the door that the machinery is for sale would indicate that the owner is expecting to give it a rest for a time.

The Glendale Consolidated, owned by St. Louis parties, with another shaft, was purchased for $18,000. What the Company expects to do with its claims has not leaked out. There is an immense amount of secrecy about things out here, which to me is bewildering.

The Alexander claims are being worked and with a prospect of good pay dirt. Experienced miners claim that the prospects here are equal to those of Georgetown, Col., but I was not so impressed.

The miners seem determined not to lose anything for want of claims, and have staked out the whole country and are waiting for capitalists to come along and buy them out or work their claims for them. I don't think $500 could be raised by the men who own two-thirds of the claims, but they are hopeful and feel rich. Assays of the quartz show a yield of from $55 to $1,100 per ton. George A. Settle, an experienced Idaho miner, informs me that these are undoubtedly true veins of silver, and he is fixing to stay. He is said to be a man of means, and has bought an interest in the Walnut Mine. This company has sent North for quartz-crushing machinery, and a few weeks will determine whether they are to get silver in paying quantities or not. Claims can be bought cheap now, but the prices are going up every day.

A Journalistic Quartet.

Greensboro Patriot.

The Raleigh NEWS, which has been vastly improved of late, the Raleigh Observer, Wilmington Star and Charlotte Observer form a quartet of dailies that do credit to this State and would pass anywhere.

[But for the marked compliment to our esteemed contemporaries, that shrinking modesty, so characteristic of North Carolina newspapers and North Carolina people, would restrain the NEWS from giving currency to the opinion of even so intelligent a journalist as Duffy.]

The writing telegraph which reproduces the mesages sent in almost perfect fac-simile of the sender, has been fitted up between Waterloo and Woking, England, a distance of some twenty-six miles, and, according to the Echo, has been working very well. The instrument itself is too recent an invention to have yet reached even an approach to perfection, but the defects made evident in practical working have so far been remedied, and it is said that a useful improvement will shortly be available. One great advantage is that the instrument is quite automatic at the receiving end, and does not require the constant attendance of a clerk. It writes its messages on a roll of paper, and they can be cut off and sent to their destinations as opportunity offers. That is an important point, because it is well known that the time wasted in calling and in obtaining the attention of the receiver far exceeds that required for the actual sending of the messages. Our foreign correspondent, "Mont," in one of his London letters, some months ago, gave a graphic account of this invention, which he had examined and seen in operation.

The Dentists at Atlanta.

The National Dental Association which met in Augusta last week was in session three days, with a full attendance. Among those from North Carolina were Drs. Y. E. Turner and D E Everett, from this city. Also Dr. M R Blonel, of Charlotte, and E Floyd, of Fayetteville. The last session was held on Thursday evening the 11th when the Association elected the following officers:

President—J B Patrick, Charleston.

First Vice-President—L D Carpenter, Atlanta.

Second Vice-President—V E Turner, Raleigh.

Third Vice-President—J B Wood, Richmond.

Corresponding Secretary—D E Everett, Raleigh.

Recording Secretary—E S Chisholm, Tuscaloosa.

Treasurer—H. A. Lawrence, Athens,

Executive Committee—W. H. Atkinson, New York, J. W. Selby, New York, S. J. Gobb, Nashville.

New York was selected as the place, and the first Tuesday in September, 1880, as the time for holding the next convention of the National Association.

A Failure.

Brown head and yellow head
Hanging side by side.
Mischief still in lowered eyes
Long lashes cannot hide.

Grimy hands that always
Hold the pencil wrong.
Lips that laugh and whisper,
Whisper all day long.

Hair all ways for Sunday;
Small coat buttonless;
Pocket bulging out with
What—you'd never guess.

Bottles with odd stoppers,
Broken patent top,
Jewsharps, green grasshoppers
That never more will hop.

Petrified sweet cookies,
Taffy mixed with strings,
A choice full line of peanut shells,
And fifty other things.

Long rows of empty seats,
Sunshine on the floor,
Longing looks at windows
And the open door.

Two very naughty boys,
After school is done,
Listening to the catechism
Teacher's just begun.

"Georgie, who's been naughty?"
Here the brown head sinks;
Slowly came the answer
Through the lips, "Frank."

"Frank, you tell who's naughty?"
Hung the yellow head,
"Frank, and tell me truly,"
"George is," he said."

Then the sober teacher
Rules of conduct taught
About what small boys ought not
And what small boys ought.

After some reflection,
Half an hour's may be,
To the question "Who is?"
Came two answers, "We."

Proud and glad, the teacher
Sent the twain away.
"Moral suasion, after all,
Is the only way."

At the open widow,
Affected nigh to tears,
The teacher stood to watch her
Penitential dears.

Soon they run, quick-fingered,
Throwing hats aloft—
A as for "moral suasion"!
Says George, 'Ain't she soft?"

EDISON OUTDONE.

MACHINES WHICH RUN WITHOUT HUMAN AID.

A Cotton Mill in Full Operation, Day and Night, Without Hands---An Account of the Inventor.

New York Times.

LONDON, June 17.—A run of five to six hours from London northward, takes you to Bradford, in Yorkshire; if you go by the Midland route you travel through a stretch of the most picturesque scenery in England, on the High Peak section of the road. This was my route. My journey ended at a smoky suburb of the great manufacturing town of Bradford. Low Moor is a busy district. To the local ironworks have been added some Yorkshire mills, and the latest supplement to the industries of the district is one which promises to revolutionize the mechanical operations of the world. It had been reported to me that Mr. Binns, a practical inventor and designer, had come as near to the attainment of perpetual motion as had been reached. He had constructed machinery which could be set at work at the beginning of the week and would go ahead until the end without being touched, so long as the steam engine continued to work; that the operation of manufacturing proceeded continuously without tending; that the owner locked up his mill at night, and went to bed, while the machines maintained their busy revolutions, turning out miles of silk cords, fringes, trimmings and other things; that whereas he used to employ scores of hands, he now only needed a stoker, a book-keeper and a few cleaners and packers to put up the produce of his automatic mill. "But suppose there is a breakage of the yarn?" I asked. "The machine pauses, mends the break, and goes on again," was the answer. This is a mill to see, I thought, and a few hours ago I found myself at a quiet, unpretentious little house at Oakenshaw, near the Low Moor Railway depot, asking for Mr. Binns. The master of the house welcomed me, but regretted that I could not see the mill that evening.

The next day I inspected the mill. I found in the principal apartment fifteen machines at work quite unattended. They were making silk and woolen cords of all kinds and in many colors, combinations of silk and woolen, and in many varieties of designs. Large bobbins, charged with material and feeding themselves from endless rolls, revolved round each other upon a large rotating disk of slower movement. It was almost like an astronomical model of a sun, with a planetary system in motion. Between them traveled yarn in course of working, and this was clothed in many hues and designs by revolving silk. The old method of manufacture was to make the cord in lengths longwise. Binn's principle is rotary and endless, almost literally without beginning and without end. "Except for cleaning," said the inventor, standing by one of the machines as he spoke, "this would go on forever until it was worn out; but let us put it at a week. It will go from Monday morning till Saturday night without touching; it is self-feeding, self-taking up, self-acting." He broke a thread; the machine mended the breakage and went on again. "The machines run at the rate of seventeen thousand revolutions a minute," he said; "that can be increased, and they require no head, reed or harness to the warp threads. The cords are developed, and used up in new silk trimming goods, without. . . the work, and at this work a girl at $4 a week can in that time produce this class of goods of $500 in value; in the endless window cord, $540; chain or sash line, $1,300; and this same girl, at $4 a week, in the silk, cotton and wool yarn goods can earn $5,000; for, with the newest machine, just mentioned, she is simply a cleaner and collector."

It is difficult to describe the machine so as to realize it to the mind's eye of the reader; but, with the astronomical simile in your memory, let me add that, first, there is a square bench; on that a flat, revolving disk as large as a big Cammonbert cheese; above that from six to a dozen revolving bobbins. The action of the machine appears to be so simple that one wonders at Binn's temerity in showing it and letting it be described, even as briefly as it is in this letter. The principle which lies at the bottom of all the operations, and which is no doubt duly secured by patent, is that of the endless spindle-band, which was being made on what I may describe as a horizontal machine. The imperceptible joining is very simply contrived by means of a small steel hook. The bands are all produced at one exact length; there is no joint or knot to interfere with the turning of the spindles on which it is used. Within a very short period of time nearly all the English spinners have adopted this band. It can be put on any spinning frame in less than a quarter of a minute, without any waste or knot.

It was dark when I returned to Low Moor. The country was lighted by the blaze of the great pig and other iron making works. It was a strange, weird illumination. A cloudy night, the sickly flames were fitful and in curious competition with the twinkling of cottage windows and public houses. I made my way from the Low Moor depot, along the road, and again knocked at Mr. Binns' door. We walked to the mill. The furnace lights were now some distance behind us. Binns' mill is in the midst of fields and meadows, away on the edge of Low Moor bustle. In the distance beyond there are woods and hills. By the mill there runs a north country brook. It flows under a low bridge by the manufactory, which is a handsome stone structure. The engine-house in outside the mill, the shafting being connected from the exterior, so that the works are not invaded by engineer or stoker. As we approached the mill through the darkness, the roar and rattle of the machinery could be heard high above the gurgling of the brook. We sat on the bridge. The dark outline of the mill could be seen, and from it came the busy sound of machinery. It was a giant in the dark. The electric light is of no use to Mr. Binns. We went to the mill door. The business of the mill was going on as if hundreds of hands were employed. When the owner took out the key and opened the door, the darkness was pitchy. It could almost be felt. A sensation of awe succeeded one of wonder. A mill at work by itself. One realized it, because no sounds of voices were heard. There were no girls singing at their work. No men calling to each other, no echoes of human voices. It seemed like an "Arabian Night." Presently Binns struck a match. We climbed the wooden stairs by candlelight. Another door was unlocked. We were in the machine room. The din was deafening. Every machine was at work, pelting away as if for very life. Here was a triumph of human ingenuity. It was as if a modern, realistic, money-making Pygmalion had made a machine and the spirit of science had breathed life into it. Under the glimmer of the candle-light we approached one of the machines. Flash of wheel and bobbin, glitter of silken cord curling out like a variegated snake and falling in twining curves into collecting receptacles met our wondering eyes, and it seemed as if the palpitating machine might have truly apostrophized us in the language of Tennyson's Brook:

"For men may come and men may go,
But I go on on forever."

"Ah, well, it needna ever stop, for that matter, so long as you feed and clean him, and you've gotten to do that wi' a child, let alone a machine," said Binns, in his characteristic dialect, as I quoted the idea to him, when we once more stood out in the darkness.

The Prince Imperial's Will.

The following is a translation of the will of the late Prince Louis Napoleon, made at Camden Place, Chiselhurst, on the 26th of February, 1879. The document, it is said, was drawn up by himself alone the night before his departure for the Cape, and was found in a box at Camden Place, inclosed in an envelope inscribed as follows: "This is my will, and must not be opened until after my death."

"This is my testament.

"1. I die in the Catholic Apostolic and Roman religion, in which I was born.

"2. I desire that my body may be laid near that of my father, until the time comes when both may be transferred to the spot where the founder of our house reposes among the French people, whom we, like him, dearly loved.

"3. My latest thought will be for my country, for which I would wish to die.

"4. I hope my mother, when I shall be no more, will maintain for me that affectionate remembrance which I shall cherish for her to the last moment.

"5. Let my personal friends, my servants, and the partisans of the cause which I represent, be assured that my gratitude to them will only cease with my life.

"6. I shall die with a sentiment of profound gratitude toward the Queen of England, the entire royal family, and the country in which during eight years I have received such cordial hospitality: I constitute my mother my residuary legatee, subject to the payment of the following legacies:

"I bequeath 20,000 francs to my cousin, Prince J. N. Murat; I bequeath 100,000 francs to M. F. Pietri in recognition of his good services; I bequeath 100,000 francs to M. le Baron Corvisart in recognition of his devotion; I bequeath 100,000 francs to Mlle. de Larminat, who has always shown herself so attached to my mother; I bequeath 100,000 francs to M. A. Filon, my former tutor; I bequeath 100,000 francs to M. L. N. Conneau, 100,000 francs to M. N. Espinasse, 100,000 to Captain Bizot, three of my oldest friends. I desire that my dear mother should constitute an annuity of 10,000 francs for Prince L. L. Bonaparté; an annuity of 5,000 francs for Mr. Bachon, my former ecuyer; of 2,500 francs each to Madame Thierry and to Uhlmann. I desire that all my other servants should never be deprived of their salaries. I desire to leave to Prince N. Charles Bonaparte, the Duke of Bassano and to M. Rouher three of the most beautiful souvenirs that my testamentary executors may select. I desire also to leave to General Simmons, to M. Strode and to Mgr. Goddard three souvenirs which my testamentary executors may select from the valuables which belong to me. I bequeath to M. F. Pietri my pin surmounted by a stone (cat's eye); to M. Corvisart, my pin (rose pearl); to Mile. de Larminat, a medallion containing the portrait of my father and mother; to Madame Lebreton, my watch in enamel ornamented with my monogram in diamonds: to MM. Comeau, Espinasse, Bizot, J. N. Murat, A Fleury, P. and uniforms, except those I may have last worn, which I leave to my mother. I leave to M. d'Entralgues a pin surmounted by a fine pearl, round in shape, which was given me by the Empress. I beg my mother to be good enough to distribute to the persons who during my life have shown attachment to me the trinkets or less valuable objects which may recall me to their recollection. I bequeath to the Comtesse Clary my pin surmounted by a beautiful fine pearl (A); to the Duke of Huescar, my cousin, my Spanish sword.

Work on the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railroad.

Greensboro Patriot.

The work of grading on the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley railroad at this point is making considerable progress. The force added last week makes the number of hands now about ninety, not counting the few who are on the sick list and those otherwise employed. About three-quarters of a mile have been finished, embracing some of the deepest fills on the road. After Buffalo is crossed a high level is reached where the grading is insignificant for a considerable distance. The convicts seem to work cheerfully and are about as well satisfied as men could be under the circumstances.

Brained Him with an Ax.

Goldsboro Messenger.

Deems Simmons, a negro tenant on David Lanier's place, near Dudley, Wayne county, on Tuesday last armed himself with an ax and proceeded to Mr. Lanier's house. Sharp words ensued, after which Mr. Lanier ordered Simmons off his premises, who thereupon turned and felled Lanier to the ground, dealing him two blows, from the effects of which he died early Wednesday morning. The murderer has so far evaded capture. Coroner Kirby repaired to the scene of the murder as soon as the information was received, and we await the inquest for full particulars. Simmons is a son of Green Simmons, a noted Republican politician.

Thackeray, during his memorable visit to America, expressed the most unbounded liking for our hotels, though himself the most conservative of Britons. We can hardly wonder at this when measuring by the standard of the "St. Nicholas" hotel, of New York. This great establishment is even better than in Thackeray's day, for it has kept in the van of every modern improvement. Its table, apartments conveniences; etc., are unsurpassed, and the traveler, whether for business or pleasure, can find no better resting-place.

THE CROPS.

A FURIOUS STORM AT APEX YESTERDAY.

A Batch of Social, Political, Religious and other Items as furnished by the "News" Reporters.

Special Telegram to the News.

STORM AT APEX.

APEX, July 17.—Apex was the scene of a severe tornado this evening about four o'clock. Fences, trees, and some chimneys were destroyed. Its direction was from West to East, and the width of the cyclone about half a mile.

HARNETT COUNTY.

HARRINGTON, July 16.—Last Saturday was the hottest day in twenty years. The thermometer stood at 106. No rain in six weeks. Crops burning up. With the most favorable season the corn crop cannot exceed a half crop. The cotton is also suffering, and not more than half a crop is expected.

HARNETT ITEMS.

An election takes place on the first Thursday in August to determine whether Harnett will submit to a special tax for ten years as a means of liquidating her indebtedness.

The sheriff was busy last week selling land under executions for old debts. The sales were mostly to friends of the debtors, so that no great hardship will likely follow.

DROUGHT IN THE CAPE FEAR SECTION.

The Wilmington Review reports that the protracted drought in that section is extensive and telling with great distinction in early corn. The earth is greatly parched and the wells in these eastern counties are most of them well nigh exhausted. Stock is suffering for drinking water, and farmers are becoming discouraged and gloomy at the unfavorable prospects of crops because of this severe drought. In some country churches the people are assembling themselves together and offering up prayers to Him who turneth not a deaf ear to His suffering creatures and those in distress and begging that He will send forth refreshing showers to revive the withered corn and to save the parched crops.

ORANGE COUNTY.

The latest NEWS' special report from Orange, says: The wheat crop, just threshed, is generally very poor in quality and small yield.

The corn and tobacco crop is seriously damaged by the drouth. Oat crop is a failure.

CROP AND WEATHER REPORTS.

Along the line of the Western, N. C. R. R., the Statesville Landmark report good crops.

The Charlotte Observer's reports from Iredell county are not encouraging. Mecklenburg crops are better.

Wilmington Star.

We alluded a few days ago to the fact that the leaves of many of the trees were dying and dropping off, as if it were in the fall of the year, from the effects of the heat and drought. In some localities the streets and sidewalks are strewn with leaves. The sycamores seem to be the most susceptible, but even the leaves on the elm in some instances are turning brown. A friend from the country informed us yesterday that the same was the case in the woods. The intense heat is also having effect upon the grass, which, in localities where it is nearly constantly exposed to the sun, looks as dead as if it were the middle of autumn. A farmer said to us yesterday that if we had good seasons of rain from now out corn, but if the dry, hot weather should continue much longer the crops would be almost destroyed. The rains which have fallen in this vicinity lately have been so light that they have done but little good, the heat of the sun speedily neutralizing their effects. In the gardens of the city, as well as the truck gardens beyond, much of the vegetation is dying.

Think of the thermometer at 101 in the mountains! Says the Winston Sentinel:

The protracted spell of dry weather came to an end by refreshing showers on rain Saturday and Sunday. For several days previous the heat was very oppressive—thermometers marking 101 degrees.

[All the reports agree that last Saturday was the hottest day, and that will be distinguished in our weather annals as "the hot Saturday of 1879."—ED. NEWS."]

Dead.

Dead! Great God! have the blue lids closed
Over those beautiful, starry eyes?
Dead! Are those busy hands still at last?
How quiet the room! How still she lies!

Dead! And never a word for me—
Never a word to soothe my pain?
Dead! Is this only a frenzied dream
That freezes my heart and scorches my brain?

Dead! And never a kiss for me!
Dead! And never a clasp of her hand!
Dead! Does that mean she is asleep?
My head whirls so I cannot understand.

She never smiles when her lips I kiss,
Or smooth the hair from her forehead low:
Why, she used to kiss me back again,
And smile so sweet. Was that long ago?

'Twas only to-day that she stood in the door,
And laid her head on my heaving breast;
And now she lies there, so pale and cold.
Does death mean only taking a rest?

Will you waken her now? How long she sleeps!
How white she looks in the darkened room!
My head aches so. Will you bring the light,
And gather some roses to brighten this gloom?

Take away those white lilies—they look so cold,
And they chill me through, like an icy breath;
I want them crimson, glowing, and red.
What's that you say—"White always for death"?

Death! What do you mean? She is only asleep;
She never would leave me until I could say,
My darling, my darling, I love you so well,
Although I said a harsh word to-day.

Ah, no! Let me stay till she opens her eyes.
She is sleeping now, and my head feels queer;
The room seems so close—my eyes ache so—
But, when she awakens, she'll find me here.

NORTH CAROLINA AND VIRGINIA.

Again has our courteous border cotemporary placed us under obligations. No higher mark of our consideration and appreciation could be offered the highly esteemed and venerable Dispatch than the unconditional surrender of our editorial space. Possessing true journalistic instinct the Dispatch will readily understand the value we attach to disinterested friendship. That the Dispatch venerates North Carolina for her "pure liquors, which in such a spirited manner maintained the integrity and virtue of her people" we believe. Indeed we have never doubted for a moment the ardent affection our border neighbors have for us, for what North Carolina has been unable to do for herself Virginia has done for her. When many, many years ago Virginia saw "the old North State embarrassed in her commerce for want of a good, safe harbor" she came to our rescue and offered Richmond and Norfolk as entrepots for our cotton and tobacco and grain. This was kind. With "a capricious, unsafe and inhospitable coast" our condition was pitable indeed when big-souled Virginia gallantly came to our rescue. We ought to feel grateful, and if perchance at any time our newspapers have manifested a little "discontent with the situation of things," indicating a suspicion of our border neighbors, we are happy to have the assurance from so intelligent an exponent of Virginia sentiment as the Dispatch, that it is ascribed to the "ill arranged geography of the State." Our sensitiveness in this regard inspired our considerate guests from the Dispatch's State, "so given to rhetorical display," to "a very retired and reserved demeanor" at Hendersonville on the fourth of July. We can but appreciate the exquisite sense of propriety that impelled our magnanimous neighbors to the "taciturnity and modesty" that detracted so much from the festal feature of the joyous occasion. In conclusion we beg our amiable cotemporary to disabuse its journalistic mind of the idea that its "friendly co-operation" is either "absurd" or presumptuous, and when Virginia's leading newspaper makes the offer, and drinks to the bottom, "the North State Forever," it fills us "too full for utterance."

THE HOT WEATHER.

Everybody is mopping their foreheads and wondering why in the name of goodness it is so hot. Truly, Summer seems to have dropped in upon us with a suddenness and intensity of heat that is surprising and almost unbearable. Thermometers vary, as thermometers generally do, and the perspiring seeker of temperature indicators has his choice of assorted lots of plethoric mercury bulbs whichever way he may turn. They range from 91 to 106. Everybody is moist and unhappy whose dire necessities compel them to swelter in this pent-up Utica, and while envying their more fortunate neighbors at the sea side and in the mountains, they have ceased to talk about the weather and appear heroically awful toridity. But city people are not the only sufferers. From every quarter of the State comes the intelligence of intensely hot and dry weather. The thermometer at Harrington, Harnett county, last Saturday stood at 106; and that day, writes the NEWS' intelligent special correspondent, was the hottest day in twenty years.

An extensive drouth is prevailing in different sections of the State, which, in some localities, is doing irreparable damage to corn and cotton. As yet we are free from epidemic and disease. We have cause to be devoutly thankful.

Tilden and the New York Democracy.

Discussing Mr. Tilden's relations to the New York Democracy the Brooklyn Eagle incidentally observes:

It may be accepted as certain that Tilden's name will come before the next National Covention of the Democratic party. Nothing that his opponents within his party in this State can accomplish will prevent this. In the event of the success of Mr. Tilden's opponents in this State, the delegation to the next National Convention will be placed in the position of resolutely opposing a candidate from their own State, and a candidate that not only carried his State for the Presidency, but who was rightfully elected to that office, by a great majority of the voters of the Union, and who was cheated out of it. The position of such a delegation would be anomalous, and no self respecting citizen would care to have a place upon it. It is at present morally certain that, if Tilden's name is not presented before the next convention by the delegation from this State, it will be presented by the State of Pennsylvania. This would put an anti-Tilden delegation from New York in the position of opposing a candidate from their own State, and without being able to give any tangible reason for doing so. It seems to us that, if by a manipulation of the machinery of the Democratic party of this State, Tilden is denied the right to have his name presented by his own State, the wrong done him would tend to strengthen him among the manly men who are certain to be in a great majority in a national convention of representative Democrats. The policy of "anybody to beat "Tilden" has rather strengthened Tilden's hold upon the voters of the State so far, for it has added to the sympathy felt for him, as a man deprived by fraud of a great office, and whose wrongs came to be those of a great majority of the American people. Love of fair play is strong among the American people, and a denial of it to Tilden cannot be relied upon to defeat him either before a convention of this party or before the voters of the Union.

NORTH CAROLINA AND VIRGINIA.

Our Courteous Border Contemporary talks felicitously about our whisky and "old Peach" and "stch."

Richmond Dispatch, July 16th.

We venerate North Carolina for many things. We have been acquainted with her long, and learned at an early age to appreciate her good people and all the good productions of which she so justly boasted, including the pure liquors she sent to market, which in such a spirited manner maintained the integrity and virtue of her people. We loved her fields and valleys, and navigated her bright waters, taking early lessons in that most admirable inductive philosophy of navigation, the propelling of the canoe. Our early impressions have been enduring, and those essays of the early economy of life have impressed upon us lasting attachments.

At an early day we know enough of geography to understand how the noble Old North State was embarrassed in her commerce for the want of a good, safe harbor on the sea, possessing the advantages for salubrity and local attractions that would lead to commercial activity and populousness. Her coast was capricious, unsafe, and inhospitable. Not so the hearts and of her generous people. But they were earnest, practical, and of course the presentment of her coastline was unfavorable to the development of her enterprise. This it was which disconcerted her schemes, and marked them with that want of harmony and concentrative tendency for which the Attorney-General of South Carolina thought proper to lecture her on the Fourth of July when infused with Spartan independence carried with him from Spartanburg to Hendersonville, on the summit of the Blue Ridge.

This effect of the ill-arranged geography of the State naturally inspired a good degree of discontent with the situation of things, and led to that suspicion of the border States which has manifested itself through several intelligent North Carolina newspapers since the memorable celebration at Hendersonville. These journals have made sinister references to both South Carolina and Virginia as candidates for position of shipping and trading port for the ingenuous Old North State. "Still harping on my daughter" seemed to be the burthen of the friendly allusions to both these States.

It is not surprising that this feeling should exist. Indeed the small body of Virginians present were very retiring and reserved in their demeanor on the Fourth of July. They did have an eye to the "main chance" of the outlet and inlet of the French Broad Gap; but they feared that any display of enthusiasm on that point might elicit the response, "Still harping on my daughter." It was, therefore, seen that Virginia, so given to rhetorical displays, was exceedingly taciturn and modest.

One reason she had that it would not be altogether just to her to suppress was that North Carolina herself was so gifted as a talker that it would be altogether proper to make wide room for her. We have been familiar with her indomitable powers of debate for long years, and they never were in better plight than at present. In the early budding and blooming of the talent of the North State there was a promise that time has more than fulfilled. In General Edney's day it showed itself so persistent and impromptu that of him it was said that call him in season and out of season, arouse him at 2 or morning, and he would slide out of bed in dishabile, bolt upright on his feet, and in clear, trumpet-tones he would ring out, "Fellow-citizens!" And now at any assemblage anywhere there will appear rampant and marvellous orators that cannot be matched in any State, while the giants of Buncombe cannot collide without imparting the idea that there is a shock as of a meeting of bulls of Bashan, who so terrified Job in his day.

Why shouldn't Virginia be very meek in such a field? Of course she should be. But some of these days, when things go well and there is a plenty of corn in the crib and a little "old peach" from Davidson or Granville on hand, and a pleasant meeting of the States, with the Governors of South and North Carolina present, you may hear from "Old Virginny."

"Returning to the ways and the commerce of our venerated neighbor, we may say with very great truth that Virginia has nearly as much trouble as she has in the direction of her highways. The *mis*direction of those of Virginia are more annoying and outrageous than is that of North Carolina; because it was in Virginia the result of the worst and most selfish motives, together with a foolish local vanity which got possession of some communities and was cherished with obstinacy, and finally displayed with a vindictiveness that was a scandal to patriotism and ruinous to the public welfare.

Whether North Carolina may connect her routes and concentrate them upon some point worthy of such concentration remains to be seen. By the the harbor of Wilmington may have an entrance and an exit both easy and safe; but even then there will be the question of salubrity, comfort, and physical vigor which connot be suppressed and will have a decisive influence in such a matter. We observed recently that Atlanta had determined to make Beaufort, South Carolina, her shipping port, and that she began the process of building wharves and founding a city there. We regarded it as a great mistake, as time will show that it is. Far better chance would there be for a city at Beaufort, or Morehead City, N. C.

We wish North C rolina had a great seaport of her own; but if that be more than she can have, we see not why she should be unfavorable to one in Virginia, which could be found in Norfolk or in Richmond. Either would present to our North Carolina brethren a population imbued with sympathies, tastes, and dispositions kindred with those of their own people and possessed of those principles and customs in commerce that would command alike their confidence and friendship.

All these we know are found in the chief mart of the sister on North Carolina's southern border. But those impediments, too well known upon our southern Atlantic coast, there come up with disadvantages that are as much to be deplored as they are to beavoided.

With North Carolina we desire to maintain most intimate and friendly relations, not so much in the spirit of "harping on my daughter" as to promote the mutual good of the States which occupy a territory that is so important just here in this middle temperate zone. We want to see these States preserving their strength and dignity in the Union, and the more harmonious and cordial they may be, the stronger and more respected they must be in the National Union.

We desire to see Richmond do for North Carolina all that cannot be done better and more to her advantage by others. We want to see North Carolina flourish; to see her gaps with railways that will help to increase her commerce and afford the best facilities for transportation; and we desire especially to see the coast-line of her interior navigation extended and improved. Thus will she prosper and increase in population and power. It may seem absurd for us to offer our friendly co-operation in these matters, but let it seem. We care not; we make the offer and drink to the bottom: "The North State forever."

It is Sherman or Quit.

Washington Post.

Federal officeholders in the South who are suspected of a pronounced leaning toward Grant, will hold their places by fragile tenure unless they hasten to put themselves en rapport with Sherman. There is to be no temporizing, no fooling, in this business. A solid Sherman delegation from the South, in the Radical nominating convention, has been decreed. The administration has power to insure this, and will not hesitate in carrying out the plan. The work will, however, be done under the hypocritical guise of "reforming the civil service?" Any Southern officeholder who is too stalwart to lend himself with apparent alacrity to Sherman's scheme, will be charged with irregularities, annoyed and undermined by vague hints of malfeasance and then mustered out. It is not likely that much of this sort of thing will be needed. Already the holders of executive positions throughout the Southern States, are hastening to solidify themselves with the administration by earnest protests in favor of Sherman. Their simulated zeal will save most of them.

ENGINES portable and stationary, SAW MILLS, GRIST-MILLS, BOILERS, CASTINGS of BRASS and IRON, FORGINGS &c. MACHINERY for Gold and Coal Mines Blast Furnaces, &c.

We call special attention to our IMPROVED PORTABLE ENGINE, for agricultural and other purposes. The Boilers of our Agricultural Engines are provided with our Patent Premium SPARK EXTINGUISHER, a device by which the Sparks are forced to pass downward over a reservoir of water and effectually extinguished without the use of wire gauze. Ours is the only arrangement of this kind which affords free access to the boiler tubes for cleaning from each end. The officers of a large number of the best Insurance Companies pronounce this Spark Extinguisher perfect in its operation.

New styles SMALL LOCOMOTIVES for hauling lumber, and other articles upon tramways and narrow gauge railways.

The best Planters regard our GINNING ENGINES superior to any in use. Send for illustrated Catalogue free. Other things being equal encourage Southern institutions.

Talbott's Patent Spark Arrester,

THE INVENTION OF THE AGE.

Talbott's new Patent Spark Arrester is really the only perfect and reliable one, and is superseding all others in use. The great efficiency of this Arrester is attracting universal attention, and is being endorsed by the best mechanical engineers and insurance companies. Its prominent features are:

It does not destroy the draft.

It does not interfere with cleaning the tubes.

It will not choke up, and requires no cleaning.

It requires no direct dampers to be opened when raising steam (dampers being objectionable, as they may be left open and allow sparks to escape.)

It requires no water to extinguish sparks, which, by condensation, destroys the draft. Besides, when water is used, if neglected, the efficiency is destroyed by evaporation of the water, and the boiler is kept in a filthy condition.

It is simple and durable, and can be relied upon.

It can be attached to any boiler.

No planter should be without one of them. Insurance companies will insure gins and barns where the Talbott Engines and Spark Arresters are used at same rate as charged for water or horse-power.

Send for illustrated circulars and price list.

JOHN C. WINDER

The Grand Armee.

[Sung by ex-Confederate Col. W H. Roberts, on the receipt of his appointment as Codifier of the laws and regulations of the army of the United States.]

Not very long ago I drew my sword,
To destroy the Union my soul abhorred.
I fought so well, and gained such fame,
That a full-fledged Colonel I soon became
So well did I manage my Colonelcee,
That now I make the laws for the Grand Armee.

The war being ended, tried my skill
At dishing up talk for a newspaper mill.
In the newspaper mill I showed my sense
By balancing well on the top of the fence,
The fence I bestraddled so carefullee,
That now I make the laws for the Grand Armee.

As I sat on the fence and looked ahead,
I saw a log blocking the wheels of Fraud.
Then straightway I hastened to O-hi-o,
And rolled out the log, to let the wheels go.
I rolled away the log and so ingeniouslee,
That now I make the laws for the Grand Armee.

I bargained with Hayes that the solid South
Should hold its tongue and close its mouth,
And Hayes then promised to obey the law,
And the troops from the South soon to withdraw,
And both of us bargained so sagacious lee,
That now I make the laws for the Grand Armee.

The honest people may grumble as they please,
When over their heads I rise at my ease.
The reason I rise is no other than this
That I know what to do at a great crisis.
I did what I know so industriouslee,
That now I make the laws for the Grand Armee.

Ex-Confederates all, whoever, you may be
If you want to rise to the top of the tree,
Stick close to the fence, and never go abroad,
Until you can drop on the side of Fraud.
On the side of Fraud you must drop so free,
If you want to make laws for the Grand Armee.

TUTT'S PILLS CURE BILIOUS COLIC.

TUTT'S PILLS Cure KIDNEY Complaint.

TUTT'S PILLS CURE TORPID LIVER.

TUTT'S PILLS IMPART APPETITE.

DR. TUTT has succeeded in combining in these pills the heretofore antagonistic qualities of a STRENGTHING, PURGATIVE, and a PURIFYING TONIC.

Their first apparent effect is to increase the appetite by causing the food to properly assimilate. Thus the system is nourished, and by their tonic action on the digestive organs, regular and healthy evacuations are produced.

The rapidity with which PERSONS TAKE ON FLESH while under the influence of these pills, indicates their adaptability to nourish the body, hence their efficacy in curing nervous debility, melancholy, dyspepsia, wasting of the muscles, sluggishness of the liver, chronic constipation, and imparting health & strength to the system. Sold everywhere.

BUFFALO LITHIA WATER,

As a General Remedial Agent in Chronic Diseases.

It is confidently claimed for these waters, and the claim though a strong one is substantiated by the testimony of many of the most eminent medical men of the country, both North and South, that in the following enumerated diseases: Affections of the Kidneys and Bladder, especially in Stone or Gravel, Dyspepsia, Rheumatic Gout, Rheumatism, Paralysis, Malarial Fevers in their chronic form, Dropsical Effusion, Uremia or Uremic Poison, Chronic Cutaneous Eruptions, and in the Functional Diseases peculiar to Women, more especially in al Disorders of the Menstrual Function. They have accomplished results as remarkable as were ever accomplished by any remedial agent whatsoever. whether in materia medica or among mineral waters. They are confidently recommended by some eminent medical men as a preventative of the disturbance and dangers incident to Pregnancy.

These waters, in cases of the dozen half gallon bottles, $5 per case at the Springs. Pamphlets sent to any address. Springs open for guests 1st day of June.

Index to New Advertisements.

J. B. BATCHELOR.—Notice.
R. H. BATTLE, Jr.—Hall to lease.
HELLER BROTHERS.—Local notices.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Internal Revenue receipts yesterday $961.32.

—The colored military paraded over about the same ground that the firemen did the day before.

—The Supreme court transacted no business yesterday. The justices spent the day in conference.

—Mr. McLean, one of Creech's popular salesmen, has been called home by the sad intelligence of his mother's death.

—Drummers' licenses were issued yesterday to James E. Patterson, Richmond, and to Patterson & Bash, Baltimore, Md.

—Mr. Jesse Brown is still confined to his bed of sickness, where the sympathies of this community rest with him.

—Mr. Geo. T. Stronach writes from the Atlantic Hotel, Beaufort: "I have just had a jolly supper of birds and geese killed singly by Jim Miller."

—Doctor Turner and Everett have returned from meeting of the Dentist Association at Atlanta, Ga., each honored with an important. The former is First Vice President, the latter corresponding Secretary.

—The Governor will not offer a reward for the arrest of fugitive from justice, except in cases where the Sheriff certifies that the same have fled the county and are beyond the reach of the ordinary process of law.

—Mr. W. A. Lodge has accepted a position in Mr. Simpson drug store. He has served six years as chemist at the penitentiary and bears the highest testimonials from the Board of Directors of that institution.

—Mr. Julian S. Carr was in the city yesterday. He has attained the summit of success in his line. Just think of a tobacco factory just double the size of the mammoth structure now occupied by the Bull, and yet this is what Blackwell & Company are doing now in Durham.

WAKE FOREST COLLEGE.

The Programme for the Inauguration of the Incoming President.—A Greeting for Dr. Pritchard.

One of the most unexpected things as well as one of the most deserved was the election of the Rev. Dr. Pritchard to the presidency of Wake Forest College. In an interview with the reverend gentleman at the time that the Rev. E. T. Winkler, of Georgia, was elected, Dr. Pritchard paid a high encorium to the reverend gentleman's worth, and his own nomination for the position was about the last thing evidently that entered his mind.

Subjoined is the programme for his inauguration:

PROGRAMME—FORENOON.

1. Address of Welcome by Prof. C. E. Taylor, Wake Forest
2. Address on Place of Baptists in N. C. History, by Rev. J. D. Hufham, D. D.
3. The New President introduced by Hon. C. M. Cooke, Franklin county.
4. Inaugural Address of the President Elect, Rev. Thomas Henderson Pritchard, D. D,
5. Laying Corner Stone of Wingate Memorial Chapel.

AFTERNOON.

1. Historial Address on the Philomathian Society by Captain T. D. Boone, of Hertford county.
2. Historical Address of Euzelian Society by Rev. John Mitchell, D. D. of Asheville, N. C.
3. Dedication of Library Hall—Address by Rev. A. C. Dixon, of Chapel Hill, N. C.
4. Short Speeches by Gov. Jarvis, Hon. K. P. Battle and Professors Simmons, Royall and Mills of the Faculty.

EVENING.

Social Gathering in the Halls. Arrangements for reduced fare being made over North Carolina railroad, and for extra trains from Raleigh to Wake Forest.

Johnston County Farming.

W. B. Wood, a noted farmer of Pleasant Grove Township, realized 116 bushels of oats, weighing 35 lbs per bushel, from three acres of unfertilized ground. He expects to thresh out three hundred bushels of wheat from thirty acres, gin seventy-five bags of cotton and stored away for next summer uses' three hundred barrels of corn. And farming don't pay in this country!

Died.

Mrs. Brittana Jewell, an aged and highly esteemed Christian lady, died at her residence in this county Thursday morning the 17th instant. The funeral will take place at her late residence today at 10 o'clock, Rev. Dr. J. B. Bobbitt officiating.

Mayor's Court.

A "free nigger" wanted to run the cook house. Cost $2.50.

Another one wanted to view the city from an outside hill. The Mayor gave him the privilege, and he looked.

Philip Seymour Baker, on a charge of larceny. Held for further examination.

A School Room Necessity.

There should be in every school room a set of good wall maps. All geographical instruction is much more effective where constant reference is made to accurate maps of the countries which are studied. Maury's maps are among the best, and a complete set (eight in number) will be furnished to any school, by Alfred Williams & Company, Raleigh, at eight dollars.

Personal.

It is rumored in Asheville, that Thomas D. Johnston has married Miss Bobs, of Spartanburg, S. C.

Blakely, of the Lenoir Topic, was at the Yarboro yesterday, with his handsome Virginia bride. He was married Tuesday in Petersburg.

The editor of the Shelby Aurora is perfectly excusable for the absence of the usual vaiety of reading matter in the last issue of the Aurora.

Judge Settle and family arrived in Greensboro last Saturday and will spend the summer there.

Mr. John Randleman, one of the proprietors of Union factory, Guilford county, died very suddenly last Saturday.

Dry Times.

Governor Medlin was in town yesterday and relates some of his experiences regarding the present summer weather. He says he has a neighbor, Peter Blum, Esq., who carries on a polyglot business, the least of which is the raising of hogs. Mr. Blum had been viewing his porcine pets several days ago, and noticed that they were growing thinner—in fact that dropsy was the exact opposite of the disease as diagnosed by the governor. They seemed to be consumed by an inward fever which was burning up their vital forces.

Now the governor is an homœopathist, an hydropathist, and it isn't certain but that he is an allopathist; however, the water cure has taken possession of his mind at present, and he advised Peter to try the water cure. Accordingly Mr. Blum marched his drove of hogs down to Walnut Creek to let them drink largely and longly of the limpid waters; but when he got there he found the catfish standing on their heads in the mud to get a breath of fresh air. So he took them over to the Neuse. They drank and drank and it seemed to make no difference. The truth was that they were so dry that they had to be soaked to enable them to hold swill.

Poisoned.

North State Press.

We are informed that one day last week a Mrs. Paul and two young ladies by the name of Fulcher, ate some wild honey which had been taken only a day or two before, and almost immediately after eating it, they were stricken with blindness, one of the parties dying and the other two at last accounts, were in a very precarious condition. The cause is supposed to result from the bees eating some honey which had been poisoned and put out for bears, thereby poisoning the honey in the hive. We gather the above from parties who had been visiting Pamlico county.

How to Unchoke a Calf.

The Charlotte Observer tells how an Iredell county man unchoked a calf.

Mr. James Moon (Iredell county) had a very fine calf choked on a large, green apple. He tried all the usual remedies, in vain, and finally gave it up as a case beyond the reach of his skill. His son John, who had been standing quietly by, a very interested witness of his father's unsuccessful efforts to relieve the calf, took the case in hand, and without counsel or advice from any one, removed the obstruction in the following very effectual, but novel manner. He caught the calf, threw it down with its neck across a log, and then took a hammer and mashed the apple, causing immediate relief.

Town Talk

Has again been revived and emanates from M. Grausman's grocery store.

The Talk of Town

more commonly called Town Talk is in full blast at M. Grausman's.

Unheard of Bargains!

Who tries his best to please his friends
And in his labors never ends,
Bargains he'll give you when you call
For No. 10 is all and all.
Of other houses you hear them talk;
In Fayetteville street just take a walk
And only ask for No. 10,
Kept by the most ingenious of men,
And when his friends by chance drop in
Then forth he comes, Lord what a grin,
And to their wondering eyes displays
Such heaps of brackets and window shades.
His pictures are exposed to public view
And a variety of cord to suspend them too,
His looking glasses and toilet cases
Will help adorn your forms and faces;
Picture frames and mouldings too
In great variety, black, brown and blue.
His window cornices and lambrequins fine,
Will make your rooms and parlor shine.
Perforated mottoes, and white holly baskets,
And every other sort of stuff,
Of which he hopes to have enough.
So now he bids you all adieu
And wishes a happy new year too,
And not forget
C. C. CLAWSON,
No. 10 Fayetteville St.

Grape Wine for Communion.

The superior quality and entire purity of Speer's Port Grape Wine, of New Jersey, and the success that physicians have had by its use has induced them to write about it, and caused hundreds of others to prescribe it in their practice as the best and most reliable wine to be had. It is held in great favor for evening parties, and for communion purposes. For sale by William Simpson.

Good Results of Life Insurance.

Another practical illustration of the value of Life Insurance is found to exist in the fact that the Ætna Life Insurance Company through their General Agent, W. H. Crow, has just paid $2,000 for a policy on the life of Colonel Joel Laflin, deceased, and also has in hand $5,000 to pay Mrs. Englehard for a policy upon the life of her late husband, J. A. Englehard, Esq., Secretary of State at the time of his death. Major W. H. Crow will be pleased to see or hear from any parties desiring to make a safe and judicious investment in this old and truly worthy institution which has been managed by him in North Carolina and Virginia for fourteen years.

BOVINE, MISSISSIPPI, April 22, 1879. —The following correspondence will explain itself: A. WADDILL, ESQ., LYNCHBURG, VA.—Dear Sir? Observing a certificate from you in reference to the "Iron and Alum Mass," of the Seven Springs, in Washington county, Va., in relation to its efficacy for Liver Diseases, would you have the kindness to inform me whether you used the "Mass" or the "Water;" also, a description of the symptoms and such other information as you may deem pertinent. I am a long-time sufferer with Liver Complaint, and naturally feel very anxious on the subject of a remedy that will afford me even temporary relief. Your early reply will greatly oblige, very respectfully,
WILLIAM BARR.

LYNCHBURG, Va., May 12, 1879.—WM. BARR, Esq., Bovine, Mississippi—Dear Sir: Your inquiry in regard to the "Liver case" which was effectually cured in my family from using the "Seven Springs Mass," is before me. The case referred to in my certificate was that of my wife's sister, who is now in her 80th year, and has been a member of my family for the last 27 years. She had been afflicted with Liver Disease for 30 years, sometimes almost dying with pains in the back, breast, and heaviness of the chest, heart-burns (intensely), sick stomach, vomiting, &c. I procured a few bottles of the "Mass" for her and very soon after she began the use of it, her health commenced to get better, and she continued steadily to improve, and at this writing, so old, seemingly in as good health as a person who had never been afflicted with these diseases. She attributes her cure entirely to the efficacy of the "Seven Springs Mass." I regard it one of the greatest family medicines we have access to, not only for such diseases as above indicated, but for various other complaints for which it is recommended. Hoping these answers satisfactory, I am, very truly, A. WADDILL, Proprietor Lynchburg News.

Healthfulness.

A distinguished physician says: "After a careful examination of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, I am satisfied that it is a wholesome preparation. I have introduced it among my patients, and have yet to learn where a convalescent patient could not indulge in warm biscuits made with it, and feel the better for it.

Wood! Coal! Grain!

I am prepared to fill all orders for wood, coal, grain, forage, &c., promptly and satisfactorily from my old stand, near the N. C. R. R. depot.

Coughing in Church.

No place in the world equals London for the constant barking kept up in the churches. It is like a perpetual fusilade of small arms. Why don't they take Hall's Balsam and get rid of their coughs? It is the most wonderful remedy, and the proprietors warrant it in every instance. Let all coughers give it a trial.

Style, elegance, location, moderate prices, and choice of either the American plan $2.50 to $3.00, or the European plan $1.00 per day, and upward, meals in the elegant Restaurant attached to the house, all unite in giving the traveler more, for the same money, at the Grand Central Hotel, New York than elsewhere.

The following gentlemen will accept our thanks for the privilege of publishing these references:

President S. Simpson graduated from Trinity College in 1875. He is a thorough scholar, elegant in general culture, and a good teacher.
B. CRAVEN,
Pres. Trinity College.

Rev. S. Simpson, A. M., was a student of Trinity College at the time I held the chair of Natural Sciences in the Institution. He made good advancements in the subjects in the Department I directed. His bearing was always dignified and courteous; and his reputation of the first character.
WILL C DOUB,
Pres Louisburg Female College,
Louisburg, N. C.

I consider the Rev S Simpson, President of Yadkin College a gentleman of fine attainments, a good disciplinarian and an energetic and accurate instructor. I warmly recommend him to the public confidence and patronage.
W. T. CANNAWAY,
Prof. of Latin and History,
Trinity College, N. C.

It affords me pleasure to state that Rev S Simpson, A M, Pres of Yadkin College, N C, is a regular graduate of Trinity College, N C, having completed in addition to the other Departments of our curriculum, a full course in Greek and French, with the unanimous approval of the Faculty, and having also taken a partial course in German. I have no hesitancy in recommending him as fully competent to teach successfully all the above mentioned branches.
O. W. CARR,
Prof Greek and Modern Languages,
Trinity College, N C

PRESIDENT:
* * * * I am under lasting obligations to you for the earnest efforts you made to teach the great principles of business and prosperity. The more I do in life, the more I recognize the benefit of your teaching. *
LEE RAMSEY, A M

REV S SIMPSON, A M:
* * * * I sincerely thank you. You taught me how to think. You are the right man in the right place * * *
R T RAMSEY, M D

President Simpson came to Yadkin College highly recommended as a teacher. For six years he has sustained himself.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime by the Cuticura Remedies, are more wonderful than any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

Cuticura Resolvent, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

Cuticura, The Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growth which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors, speedily it removes them leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

Salt Rheum for 30 Years

On the Head, Face, and Greater Par of the Body, Cured.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good physicians, all of which did me no good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of Cuticura. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend
